Index to Volume 39 (2012)

Volume 39 Number 1 – March

Editorial 2
Graham Hallett and Fiona Hallett

Illusionary inclusion – what went wrong with New Labour's landmark educational policy? 4
Alan Hodkinson

Speed bumps, roadblocks and tollbooths: how culturally and linguistically diverse parents navigate the highways and byways of giftedness in Ontario 12
Cam Cobb

Single subject research: applications to special education 21
Orhan Cakiroglu

Challenges and management frameworks of residential schools for students with severe emotional and behavioural difficulties in Hong Kong 30
Stella Suk-ching Chong and Ka-wai Leung

Focus on Practice 39
What's so inclusive about an inclusion room? Staff perspectives on student participation, diversity and equality in an English secondary school
Gwen Gilmore

Points from the SENCo-Forum 49
Policy aspirations and their fulfilment
Klaus Wedell

Politics Page UK 50
John Perry

Book Reviews 54
Edited by Ron Smith

Volume 39 Number 2 – June

Editorial 60
Graham Hallett and Fiona Hallett

Dyslexics in time machines and alternate realities: thought experiments on the existence of dyslexics, 'dyslexia' and 'Lexism' 63
Craig Collinson

The image of the special education teacher as reflected in drawings made by teachers in training in Israel 71
Dafna Regev and Tamie Ronen

The development of reading skills in young partially sighted readers 80
Michael Tobin and Eileen W. Hill

Destination unknown? Transition to adulthood for people with autism spectrum disorders 87
Ewelina Rydzewska

Focus on Practice 94
Implementing the SENCo system in Hong Kong: an initial investigation
Kim Fong Poon-McBrayer

Points from the SENCo-Forum 102
Learning multiplication tables and the 'added value' of SENCos
Klaus Wedell

Politics Page 103
John Perry

Volume 39 Number 3 – September

Editorial 108
Graham Hallett and Fiona Hallett

Individual Education Plans in the Republic of Ireland: an emerging system 110
Richard Rose, Michael Shevlin, Eileen Winter, Paul O'Raw and Yu Zhao

Reforms and challenges in the era of inclusive education: the case of China 117
Meng Deng and Kim Fong Poon-McBrayer

Visions for literacy: parents' aspirations for reading in children with Down syndrome 123
Leila Ricci and Anna Osipova

Impact of severity of autism and intervention time-input on child outcomes: comparison across several early interventions 130
Phil Reed and Lisa Osborne

A study on the inclusion of deafblind young people in mainstream schools: key findings and implications for research and practice 137
Leda Kamenopoulou

Focus on Practice 146
The nurture teacher: characteristics, challenges and training
Corinne Syrnyk

Points from the SENCo-Forum 156
Defining special educational needs and disabilities in 2013?
Klaus Wedell

Politics Page 157
John Perry

Volume 39 Number 4 – December

Editorial 162
Graham Hallett and Fiona Hallett

Evaluating the impact of the new National Award for SENCos: transforming landscapes or gardening in a gale? 164
Dominic Griffiths and Rachel Dubsky

The effect of adult interactive style on the spontaneous communication of young children with autism at school 173
Lila Kossyvaki, Glenys Jones and Karen Guldberg

Participation in part-time special education and its correlation with the educational paths, self-concepts and strengths of young adults 185
Kristiina Lappalainen and Hotulainen Risto

Children with epilepsy: a review of the international literature using a quality of life lens 194
Jillian Roberts and Cheryl Whiting-MacKinnon

Focus on Practice 201
A design model: the Autism Spectrum Disorder Classroom Design Kit
Keith McAllister and Barry Maguire

Points from the SENCo-Forum 209
What is 'additional and different' about individual education plans? – Ten years on
Klaus Wedell

Politics Page 210
John Perry

Index to Volume 39 (2012) 214

© 2012 The Author. British Journal of Special Education © 2012 NASEN. Published by Blackwell Publishing Ltd, 9600 Garsington Road, Oxford OX4 2DQ, UK and 350 Main Street, Malden, MA 02148, USA.
DOI: 10.1111/1467-8578.12008